Biographical Sketch: Elizabeth (Shaun) Kadison

Professional Preparation

Institution

University of Central Florida
University of Central Florida
Florida State University

Degree, Year

Master of Science/ Biological Sciences, 1992
Bachelor of Science/ Biological Sciences, 1988
Associate of Arts, 1986

Appointments

2002-present	Center for Marine and Environmental Studies, University of the Virgin Islands Ecology Laboratory Specialist
2001-2002	Conservation and Fisheries Department, British Virgin Islands, Tortola, BVI Fisheries Biologist
1993-2001	Florida Fish and Wildlife Commission, Marathon, Florida Research Associate
1991-1992	Jacksonville University, Jacksonville, Florida Valencia Community College, Orlando, Florida Adjunct Instructor, Biology and Ichthyology

Research Statement

Ms. Kadison is currently involved in research on grouper and snapper spawning aggregations, grouper movement using hydro-acoustic technology, and coral reef fish communities around the Virgin Islands. Her interests lie primarily on mesophotic reef communities and fish reproductive behavior.
